TELIRIS IS A BI-NATIONAL UK-AMERICAN FIRM

Teliris is a bi-national UK-American firm, befitting its role as a point-to-point “telepresence” company. We’re talking about large screens, transmitting life-sized images over whatever fast transmission network is available, without discernible lag. Rather than adding videoconferencing to a phone call, you might describe Teliris as replacing travel with a ‘virtually there’ experience for global companies. Yes, we know you’ve heard about videoconferencing for the last decade. But take note; Teliris systems cost a quarter of a million dollars for two locations. How’s the market at this lofty stratum? Teliris is in the black, 12 months ahead of plan, with revenue 30 percent over projections.
